About the previous conferences

Law and Economics has arguably emerged as one of the influential theories of jurisprudence since the 1960's. The discipline has been steadily making inroads into India as scholars and policy-makers note how comparative law lends itself to comparative economic analysis of law. The past six conferences attracted several leading international and national experts and academicians in the field of law and economics. Many lawmakers, bureaucrats and senior officials representing relevant regulatory and statutory bodies, and professionals and firms working in the area also attended the conference. In line with the consortium's commitment to academic outreach in the student community, many undergraduate and postgraduate students from several universities in the country also participated enthusiastically in the past conferences.
